Thanks to the State Road Department that dangerous crossing at the power plant has been repaired. Nice job they did, too.

Three automobiles parked on a Pahokee main street the other day took up enough space for five cars —had the streets been properly marked by parking lines.

I went fishing last week end. The bass weren't biting. I fished 17 minutes by the watch and didn't have a strike. At that I came within one of catching as many as two other fellows. And they fished for hours.

I've heard a lot of favorable comment about the proposed Everglades Chamber of Commerce. I'm waiting now to see how much talking some fellows put out, without actually doing anything about such an organization.

I'd like to see a brand new highway built from Pahokee to Belle Glade. I don't mean alongside the canal—but a straight shot across country. A new road like that shouldn't be over five or six miles in length.

The Town of Belle Glade is making plans to rebuild and repair the streets throughout the city. It is quite an undertaking but citizens know that it is money spent for a worthwhile cause.

A recent letter from my wife on vacation in Georgia says among other things: "We are having fresh butterbeans, fresh peas, new corn, rice, tomatoes, fried chicken and gravy, hot biscuits, home made sherbert for dinner."

It's lunchtime in Canal Point, I guess I'll have my usual hamburger.

U. S. Editors Visit Florida In 1941 To Hold Convention

Several Hundred Expected To See Florida On Trip Next Year

FT. MYERS, July 18 (FNS)—George E. Hosmer, past president of the National Editorial Association and chairman of the Florida State Press Association NEA Convention Committee, announced this week that word had been received from officials of the NEA that Florida's bid for the 1941 National Convention had been accepted by the Board of Directors, with both a pre- and post-convention tour of the state being considered, plans to be worked out by the Florida press officials, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, and other groups.

The National Editorial Association, made up of owners and publishers of non-metropolitan newspapers, held it annual convention in Florida twenty years ago. Following the business session at St. Augustine, between four and five hundred editors then toured the state by special train, visiting many communities and points of interest where special entertainment was provided by local groups.

Following their visits, thousands of columns of feature stories, editorials and news material descriptive of Florida, were published in newspapers throughout the country, giving this state much valuable and helpful publicity, and it is felt that in entertaining this group next year Florida will receive untold benefits in the form of publicity and good will. Most of the development here has taken place within the past 20 years and Florida has more to show and more to offer now than ever before.

Success in bringing this important convention to Florida is due largely to the tireless work of George Hosmer and his committee which attended the recent meeting in New York and presented Florida's bid for the 1941 gathering, as well as to Earl Brown and the Florida State Exhibit who entertained the group at the New York World's Fair with a luncheon and special entertainment program.

Dates for the 1941 convention and state tour have not been set. Chairman Hosmer has called a meeting for this week to discuss plans and work out an itinerary and complete financial arrangements.

Plans Call For New Packing Plant In Belle Glade Soon

Miami Concern To Erect Building, Sight Bought From Hooker

Construction is expected to start within a few days on a new $100,000 pre-cooling and packing plant in Belle Glade. It has been announced that the City Ice and Fuel company of Miami has purchased a 10-acre tract of land from Walter R. Hooker for the site of the new building. The plans call for erection of a building 150x350 to house the packing and pre-cooling plant.

The Florida East Coast Railway Company is expected to start work in a few days on a 22-car siding which will start at Lord's packing house and circle around the school building to the plant. It is estimated that more than 1,000 cars of produce will be shipped from the plant, said to be one of the most modern in the state, during the 1940-41 season.

The Florida Pre-cooling Company of Sanford has already leased the proposed building and will operate the plant. Service will be available ta all vegetable growers in the vicinity. William C. Lord, Belle Glade grower and packer, will be superintendent.

While celery will furnish a major part of the shipments, lettuce, escarole and romaine and other vegetables also will be handled.

Early fall planting this year will include 640 acres by Howard L. Haney; approximately 900 acres by Ernest and Casper VanLandingham; 640 acres by Jack Keesee; 800 acres, Roy Alspaugh; 400 acres, Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth; 320 acres, Arthur Wells; 320 acres, Robert Y. Creech; 100 acres, L. L. Stuckey; 75 to 100 acres each by Sam Fleming, Joe Friedheim, Walter Hooker and William Lord, and numerous other smaller plantings.

While a large variety of vegetables will figure in this record breaking cultivation, celery will claim a good percentage of the acreage, and the yield here is 600 or more crates per acre.

Need Bass Players In The School Band

The Pahokee school band, under the direction of Robert Lampi, is making progress even during these dull summer months. Director Lampi is having a fairly good turn out for band practice each session and ere the arrival of the first foot ball game this fall should have a playing outfit.

Right now there is need for bass players, the director says. He urges parents, who have children who wish to play in the band, to get in contact with him as soon as possible. Mr. Lampi points out that the sooner a large number of children participate in the band just that much sooner a playing organization can be perfected.

Shorty has a host of friends in the Lake Okeechobee region who will be pleased to know that he is bringing this splendid recreation center to Pahokee.

Texas Visitor Is Rote Entertainer

A young lady from Texas delightfully entertained Pahokee Rotarians at their regular weekly meeting yesterday in Masonic temple. Miss Roberta Hollingsworth, of Sherman, Texas, a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Denton pinch-hit for the program committee and furnished one of the most enjoyable programs in many weeks when she gave two readings. One was entitled "Snoring," and the other "The Smith Family." Miss Hollingworth is a teacher in the Sherman high school and a past master in her chosen art. Pahokee Rotarians and several visiting Rotarians thoroughly enjoyed the program as presented by Miss Hollingsworth.

V. C. Denton, past president, presided in the absence of President Thurmond Knight. Walter Hooker, John Harris, J. R. Neller and "Little Doc" VanLandingham were visiting Rotes from Belle Glade. Singing was under the direction of Song Leader John Dulany with Miss Gloria John Dulany at the piano.

Our Friends think it is a Sane Suggestion

Recently this newspaper suggested an Everglades Chamber of Commerce—embracing all communities in the Lake Okeechobee Farming Region. We believe it is a good idea. Great things could be accomplished through such an organization.

The Palm Beach Post—always friendly and helpful in any movement for the betterment of this agricultural section—calls the idea "A Sane Suggestion." In an editorial in Wednesday morning's paper favorable comment was made on the Everglades Chamber of Commerce idea. The editorial in its entirety is being reprinted below:

For all practical purposes the portion of Palm Beach County bordering the shores of Lake Okeechobee is one community. Its interest and problems are identical and the various sectors must rise or fall together.

To an appreciation of these facts may be ascribed the proposal of the Everglades News for the formation of an Everglades Shamber of Commerce.

"Every Lake Okeechobee community should have a voice in such an organization and assist in making this section of Florida the outstanding winter vegetable producing area of the United States," insists the News.

To which The Post says, "Amen" with the proviso that the organization's activities should not be limited to the promotion of winter vegetable production.

Winter vegetables constitute only one of the present and potential resources of the Lake Okeechobee area. Sugar cane production, the live stock industry and probably numerous other crops are susceptible of vast development on the fertile acres of the Everglades.

But that is not all. Better roads, more schools, improved banking facilities, increased hotel accommodations and greater cultural opportunities are among the needs of all growing communities. Concerted action is required to obtain them.

A more opportune time for united efforts on the part of the people of the Everglades has never presented itself. The possibility of an early adjustment of the Everglades Drainage District debt offers hope of the beginning of a new era of development in that region. The soil conservation program inaugurated by the Federal government together with the Joint Resources Investigation being carried on by joint action of Federal and State agencies promises to point the way to more advantagageous use of the area's natural resources.

The eyes of the State and the nation are upon the Everglades as never before. What use the residents make of their opportunities depends upon themselves.

That they are able to cooperate in matters of public concern is proved by the success of the Everglades Fair, which has been conducted for years by the American Legion posts of Pahokee and Belle Glade. There is no reason to believe that the same spirit applied to a chamber of commerce would not bring equally satisfactory results.

Residents of the Everglades section of the county are proud of their community and the remainder of the county is proud of it, too. But what it is now is only a sample of what is in store.

A united organization, embracing the entire territory and working sincerely for the benefit of the area as a whole, could not fail to make its influence felt. It is to be hoped the News' suggestion will receive the attention it deserves.

Weed Marts Open On August 8th

LIVE OAK, July18 (FNS)—The Georgia-Florida Tobacco Markets for 1940 open Thursday, August 8th, a week later than last year, but well ahead of the markets of North and South Carolina which do not open until August 20.

The week's delay in the opening of the Georgia-Florida markets is due to the unseasonable weather in this belt during the planting season.

Date for the official opening of Florida market was set by the Tobacco Association of the United States at a recent meeting.

Wheat Costs 55c Express Is $3.40

Charley Tinney, who operates a grocery store north of Canal Point, bought a bushel of wheat the other day. There isn't anything unusual about somcone spending 55c for a bushel of wheat. But, what is unusual is that the express charges of that same bushel of wheat from Oklahoma to Canal Point amounted to $3.40.

Witt Guise Due Trip To Majors

Sam Butz, sports editor of the Florida Times-Union, devoted his entire colum to Witt Guise, 30-year-old southpaw pitcher of the Columbia Reds. It seems that young Guise is due for a trip to the major leagues. He has been playing ball since 1929 and never been in a big time nine. The southpaw is well known to Palm Beach county base ball fans and they will be pleased to learn that he is on his way up to the major leagues

Call Election To Vote On Bonds For Pahokee City Hall

Freeholders Will Have Opportunity To Okeh $35,000 Issue

A special bond election will be held in Pahokee on Tuesday, September 10, at which time freeholders will have opportunity to vote on issuance of $35,000 in bonds for a new city hall. Arrangements for the election were completed at the regular meeting of the Pahokee city council last Friday night. After authorizing Mayor John A. Dulany to call the election the council appointed Mrs. Blanch E. Armstrong, J. B. Elliott, Mrs. Vena Mae Schroder and Mrs. Ruby I. Bailey on the special election board. The council will meet Sept. 11, at 8 p. m., to canvas the election returns.

The proposed city hall will be located on the site of the present building. It will include, in addition to administration offices, a modern jail and fire station.

The council has for several years recognized the inadequacy of the existing structure which was built immediately after the 1928 hurricane when Pahokee contained less than half its present population.

Two years ago city freeholders approved a $25,000 bond issue to match an expected PWA grant for the construction of a new municipal building, but application for the grant was made at a time when new PWA grants were being discontinued. The decision to call another bond election in order to finance the project in its entirety was made by the council after the application papers for a PWA grant were returned recently by the Federal agency.

The proposed municipal bonds, if issued, will be in denominations of $500 each, bearing not more than six per cent interest and will mature over a period of not less than 10 and not more than 25 years.

Lulu Is Mecca Of Vacationing Rote

The Vacation Editor of this newspaper came across an interesting missive this week. It was a post card to Rotarian Ben Waring from Rotarian Inman W. Weeks, who is spending a ten day vacation with friends and relatives in Lulu, Florida. The Vacation Editor was at a loss to know the exact location of Lulu and Mr. Waring enlighted us. He located the vacation mecca of Mr. Weeks as being just two wagon greasings south of Lake City.

What made the missive so interesting was the fact that Vacation-Minded Mr. Weeks thought of Rotary while away. He wrote Mr. Waring and requested that a spot be saved for him on the weekly program for some time next September when he plans a special program. It is thought by local Rotarians that the special program will be built around "10 Days and Night Life in Lulu."

Sugar Hearing To Be Held Clewiston

WASHINGTON, July 18—The agriculture department announced Tuesday a series of hearings would be held in Louisiana and Florida to consider prices to be paid for the 1940 crop of sugar cane and the rate of pay for persons employed in harvesting the 1940 crop and in planting and cultivating the 1941 crop.

The hearing will be held at New Orleans, July 29; New Iberia, La., July 31; Donaldsonville, La., August 2, and Clewiston, Fla., August 6.

Varying from its custom in previous years, the department announced tentative recommendations for sugar prices to be considered at the hearings.

Pre-cooling Plant To Be Erected For State Market Use

Additional $25,000 Will Be Spent By Marketing Board

John A. Dulany, mayor of Pahokee, who has been instrumental in the erection of a state market at Pahokee, announces that the state now plans to build a pre-cooling plant in connection with the market. The plant will cost an additional $25,000, the mayor pointed out.

The plant will be located south of the main marketing building next to the railway loading shed and is scheduled for completion around December 1. It will have a four-car storage capacity. All of the latest advancements in precooling science will be incorporated in its equipment, making it when completed the most modern and efficient plant of its kind, according to Mayor Dulany.

The increasing popularity of celery as a factor in influencing the board's decision to include pre-cooling equipment as a part of the market's facilities, Mayor Dulany said. The acreage planted to celery has doubled in the Glades each year since it was introduced as a successful commercial vegetable crop by the late H. H. Wedgworth. During the past season approximately 1,100 acres of celery were grown in the Glades, most of which was packed at the Wedgworth house in Belle Glade. At present the Wedgworth house has the only pre-cooling plant for celery in the Lake Okeechobee area and growers will welcome the convenience of the pre-cooling equipment being added at the State market here, Mayor Dulany said.

New Hazard Faces Cane Industry In Chlorotic Streak

Unable To Halt Destruction Of New Disease In Louisiana

The sugar cane industry of the Lake Okeechobee Region faces a new hazard in the recently discovered "chlorotic streak." This disease was first discovered by Dr. Abot of the Federal Station in Louisiana in 1937. Since then, efforts to eradicate it from the cane fields of that state have failed and it has spread rapidly.

The greatest hazard for this area lies in the possibility of someone bringing a piece of seed cane from Louisiana or Georgia and planting it in the Everglades with the belief that it will be superior to present varieties. Such things have happened in the past and a bad mosiac infection in cane was traced directly to seed cane imported from Georgia in 1932. Independent cane growers may fall into error of introducing the diseasein seed cane. Seed cane used in this area should be obtained through the division of sugar plants at Washington.

Government officials in commenting upon the spread of the chlorotic streak in Louisiana said: "Chlorotic streak is not only a serious, direct hazard to the entire industry, but it is capable of frustrating many years of cane breeding efforts carried on at our Canal Point, Florida, station. We should do everything possible to exclude it from Florida."

Reports coming from the sugar cane sections of Louisiana are to the effect that the new disease is there. Special effort is being made playing havoc with cane fields by government seed plant men to halt the destruction which is fast becoming widespread.

When a man begins to feel a bit leary when they mention streamlines, is a good sign of middle age.

ADVERTISING, THE BUILDER

Of recent years it has been the fashion among radical reformers to question the value of advertising. The question is easily answered.

Nothing in the world sells until it is known. No successful commodity blunders its own way into a store and waits until somebody by some strange chance blunders into buying it, says Nation's Business. If merchants and factory managers had not hired salesmen, and had not placed advertising, our America would still be what it was in 1740, a handful of poor villages and penniless farmers, dotted on the edge of enormous forests.

National distribution, in its simplest terms, means that you can get your favorite foods, beverages, clothes, shoes, cigarettes, soaps, cosmetics, books, magazines and all other manufactured articles, wherever in the country you are. Bringing this about, in a country 3,000 miles wide, and once apparently divided forever by the Rocky mountains, has been no child's play. It would never have taken place without national advertising.

Railroads and steamship lines and highways provided the means of transport. But what is the use of transporting goods from a factory in Delaware to a store near a family in Oregon if the goods are not known and, therefore, are not bought?

Advertising is the dissemination of news about better and less costly goods than people could make for themselves at home.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

"Temptation" is a terrible thing—especially when it is red headed and comes prancin' into your office on a hot summer day and starts talkin' about cool shady pools, refreshing lake breezes, and fish that bite at the drop of a bait.

"Red" Edgerton, impetuous salesman for the Western Newspaper Union, can disrupt any business organization by simply putting in an appearance and that's "how come" I played hooky last week and joined him on a trip to the Lake Okeechobee section.

At Sebring we met Nate Broking, publisher of the Highlands County News. Nate is the kind of a guy that goes around with an outboard motor in one hand and a mess of fishin' tackle in the other. He not only knows all the fish in south Florida by their names but has their address and telephone number as well.

In spite of the fact that he was all stove up from a recent automobile accident and was three days behind in his work, he quit everything and personally escorted us to one of his pet fishin' holes. It was a swell trip and you know I enjoy "just bein' out" even if you don't get fish.

A "Scotch and Soda" usually goes pretty well after a trip like that, so we stopped at a roadside place in Hardee county to see what could be done about it.

Steppin' up to the counter, I confidently placed our order. "You want a WHAT and WHICH?" the man says, lookin' at me like I was a curio or somethin'. "Scotch and Soda," I repeats, rather timidly this time.

Well, the guy grunts, shrugs his shoulders, and begins pawin' through an assortment of bottles on the back shelf. Finally he found one marked "Scotch," dusted it off and, opening it, set the darn thing on the bar, at the same time layin' out some plain whisky glasses.

"How about the soda?" I asks nervously. "Soda," he mumbles, his face as blank as a sham-battle cartridge. "Oh yeah," and reachin' under the counter he drags out a package of baking soda. "What's the matter, buddy," he says, "you got heartburn?"

Well, there was nothin' else to do, so I pours a modest drink, puts in a pinch of soda and says "Open up, mouth, you asked for it!" The rest of the trip I stuck to Coca-Cola.

Arriving at Clewiston we found Jay Moran of the U. S. Sugar Corporation as busy as a battalion commander of a blitzkrieg, up to his ears in the construction of a beautiful new office building, at the same time keeping a weather eye on the coming cane crop. But we did succeed in enticing him away one afternoon for a session with the bass in Lake Okeechobee. Boy, what a fishin hole that is,—even I caught a mess! The fish take your plug while you're strugglin' a backlash and wait for you to untangle yourself and pull 'em in. Just old fashioned Clewiston hospitality, I guess.

The entire Lake section looked mighty prosperous. Everyone was busy and looking forward to a great winter season. The new cane crop is growing like the national debt and today you'd never know there'd been a freeze. Some day the government will take its hobnail boot off the neck of this section and let the folks down there "go to work" and when that happens "unemployment" and "hard times" will just naturally have to go find some place else to live.

At Belle Glade I met a mighty interestin' chap named Bill Pierce. He runs a garage and a 1900 Sears Special Horseless Carriage, which he claims is the fastest thing on "buggy wheels." He raced a challenger from Minnesota, who appeared in Miami last winter with an 1896 model, and beat him by about three snorts and a chug, to become National Gas-buggy Racing Champion.

I'll tell you more about Bill at a later date, for he is a real character. Next winter he may have to defend his title against Barney Oldfield, Ralph DePalma, and other speed demons in a "race of a century" that is being cooked up. Maybe even Henry Ford will drag out his famed "999" and take a hand. In any event, it promises to be some show, with every car in the race at least forty years old.

Miss Howell To Wed Marshall Lair

Miss Evelyn Howell of Luverne Ala., will become the bride of Marshall Lair at an early date, according to announcement received here from Marianna, Fla., where Mr. Lair is employed in a bank. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Lair of Pahokee and for years was connected with the Bank of Pahokee. The wedding is to take place on August 3 and the bridal couple plan to spend part of their honeymoon in Pahokee visiting Dr. and Mrs. Lair.

The reason there is so much more law breaking today, is probably because there are so many more laws to break.

FULLER'S FULMINATIONS
by Fuller Warren

An almost continuous participation in politics for fourteen years has given me a few more or less fixed notions about it. Politics is such a variable, fluctuating, vacillating, unpredictable quantity that most of my ideas about it are, like the advertised prices of a certain make of car," subject to change without notice." But there are a few things about it that I am fairly well certain of.

The one thing of which I am convinced beyond cavil is that the people will put up most anything in a politician but dishonesty. An indulgent public will endure a lazy, slothful and incompetent public official, in some instances. A patient and forgiving public will tolerate a few peccadilloes on the part of a politician. This same public will make allowances for many other shortcomings of a politician and continue him in office. But once it has become established that an official is not honest, the people make short shrift of him at the polls.

This is one of the most re-assuring aspects of government by the people. So long as general public condemnation of dishonesty in office is sure and certain, democracy will work. Of course, democracy should be buttressed by something more than a bare, negative sort of honesty on the part of public officials, but with this essential foundation assured, democracy will survive.

A lot of stolid, unimaginative, humorless people, with a stunted aesthetic sense, contend that the public has lost its appreciation of stirring campaign oratory. It is their thesis that the wide diffusion of learning in latter years, coupled with the myriad forms of entertainment that are to be found in every quarter, ranging from the road-side jook-joint to the fashionable salons of the symphony orchestras, has caused the public to lose its once avid appetite for campaign oratory. I think they are wrong.

I have found the people of Florida eagerly responsive to the harangue of the hustings. Our citizens are primarily interested in hearing from candidates a sensible discussion of issues and records, but they are not at all averse to having the address clothed in the fine raiment of eloquent speech. They respond eagerly to susurrant simile, thrilling tripe and moving metaphor. In fact, I think the people prefer to have the harsh realities of politics presented in the garb of gusty (?) speech.

The anly reason for the nutty notion of our dour friends that political oratory is passe, is the fact that so little of genuinely pleasing platform eloquence is heard in campaigns. Most campaign speeches are dry, dull, statistical recitals of records or issues. Few of the dreary declamations of the candidates of today are embellished by eloquent epigrams, forensic flights of fancy, gyrating gesticulations, hair-in-the-face tossing of the head, foot-tomping, eye-bulging grimaces, or any of the other arts of the stumper that once made campaign oratory the delight of the multitudes. And its absence, I believe, accounts for much of the ennui and outright boredom of the people at nearly every political rally.

The absence of those stentorian stumpers of another age from the hustings of today accounts, I think, for the poor attendance at political rallies and the consequent lack of interest in public matters. Forty years ago when the "Boy Orator of the Platte" Bryan, "Pitchfork Ben" Tillman, Zebulon Vance, "Sockless Jerry" Simpson, "Cotton Tom" Heflin, "One-Armed" Will Aates, and their imitators in almost every town, made the welkin ring with resounding oratory, it was not at all uncommon for crowrs of five and ten thousand to turn out for political speakings. Now, a crowd of more than two or three thousand exists only in the mind of the candidate's publicity man. And crowds that size are the exception rather than the rule.

In these perilous times, when democracy is endangered as never before, it is imperative that the people take an active interest in their public affairs. Such an interest can best be stirred up by the return of genuinely eloquent political oratory. It is my hope that young men now in high school and college will respond to this great and imperative need by diligently studing oratory and preparing themselves to be colorful and effective public speakers. There is no better way in which they could serve their country.

Next to honesty, I believe the people appreciate most in a public official good-nature and affability. He may be very homely in appearance; his garments may be ill-fitting and shobby; he may be a little lazy and inclined to indolence; he may have a few bad habits All these shortcomings may, and probably will be overlooked by an indulgent public if a politican is obliging, courtoous and good-humored in his dealings with the people. A ready, beaming, infectious smile is much more esteemed than a handsome profile. A friendly greeting is much more appreciated than a prepossessing physique. If a man doesn't have enough genuine, inherent affection for his fellow-man to be always riendly and kind he should stay out of politics.

Come next week, I hope to have communion with you again.
